

KAMPUS KAPERS '53 NOW IN FINAL STAGES

By JAMES KEOLKER
"Kampus Kapers," the traditional madcap S.F. State production of laughs, dance, and song, will cavort in its '53 trimmings next Thursday, April 16, at 8:30 p.m. in Frederic Burk auditorium.

The show will continue in a two week-end run on April 17, 18, and 23, 24, and 25. A special high school preview performance will be given April 15.

Tickets for the production go on sale this week in the drama box office, AA 11. Early purchase of tickets to avoid disappointment of capacity crowds has been advised by the box office. Student admission will be 60 cents; general admission, 90 cents.

Highlighting the Kapers of '53 is a trip through space, an equestrian demonstration, and a circus act. Traditionally presented revue style, this year's show will feature a series of sketches, songs, and variety acts.

Because a circus marks the close of act one, a preview circus parade will circle the campus at 1:00 p.m. Thursday, April 9. Kickoff demonstration featuring the opening song from the show is on the calendar for the student body rally on Tuesday, April 14, at 1:00 p.m. in the old campus gymnasium.

Under the direction of Jules Irving, assistant professor on the drama faculty, a cast of more than 30 students are presently in the final phases of rehearsal. Included in the cast are Fran Ashman, Beverly Brown, Joanne Beretta, Ed Barry, Ruth Carley, Manuel Carvalho, Shirley Chambers, Carol Combs, Marilyn De Vita, Ardynne Fuller, Dorothy Hard, William Hastings, Jeanne Kessey, Karl Knuth, Karen Lagergren, Robert McClay, Richard McCurdy, Rosemarie Rodriguez, Joan Ruggiero, Alan Sims, Patsy Speer, David Webb, Jeanne Falen, Warren Gustafson, Antonio

Fernandez, and Jeanne Diamant. Choreographer for the show is Carlos Carvajal, who has arranged dances for Elana Gyulai, Rachelle Reyes, Gloria Reyes, Etra Ravaglioli, Mary Ellen Beyer, Ed Whipple, Karl Kresge, Scott Zumwalt, Mary Berry, Mai Anita Bailey, and Donna Bark.

Dick Vartanian, Boyd Johnson and Fred Jueneman are the three tunesmiths who have developed original musical compositions for the production.

State Fair Looms Top Spring Event

Donkeys, Dames, Dance Combine To Produce 'Most Ambitious' State Fair; Parade, Shows Scheduled

San Francisco State will scoop the California State Fair circuit when they unveil their 1953 edition May 7, 8, and 9, at the New Campus.

Heralded by Activities Commissioner Bert Phillips "as the most ambitious State Fair yet produced by the Associated Students," the fair will parlay donkeys, dames and dancing into the top social and cultural event of the Spring semester.

The fair is pointed to provide entertainment for State students and promotion of the school to the local citizenry of San Francisco and the bay area.

A variety of shows will be produced during the three day affair including: Campus Galaxy, International Flavor, Music Show, Air Force Revue, Water Follies, Global Panorama, Show of Shows. Donkeys, faculty and students will compete in a game of donkey basketball.

One of the highlights of the fair will be selection of a queen by student vote from the local bevy of beauties.

Festivities will conclude with dance May 9 at the new campus gym.

The fair will commence with a parade, featuring on-campus organizations and marching units and bands from the Air Force, Navy and Marines, from Sloat avenue to the New Campus.

Ex-Staters Participate in Operation "Desert Rock"

Operation "Desert Rock V," one of the latest demonstrations to test the effectiveness of new atomic weapons, will include two former San Francisco State students, Private First Class John F. Brown and Russell J. Smith.

Hal Grant Runs In Marathon

Veteran road-runner Hal Grant will represent San Francisco State college in the 19th annual Petaluma marathon next Sunday.

The race, which will be run around the town of Petaluma, will be the standard marathon distance—26 miles, 385 yards.

Grant will enter this race with a third-place trophy from the 1952 26-mile Berkeley marathon and a fifth-place trophy from last year's Dipsea race to his credit. He was also a member of the '49 championship West Point cross-country squad and captain of State's '52 cross-country team.

The Petaluma run is one of the top long-distance races in California and is generally considered a solid preparation for the International Boston marathon which will be held April 19 in Boston.

The current Petaluma course record was set in 1948 when Leland Smith toured the route in 2 hours, 47 minutes and 50 seconds.

Others Welcome to Fair

Invitations have been extended to all Bay Area and San Francisco high schools and colleges to attend the 1953 edition of State Fair, to be held at the new campus, May 7, 8 and 9.

STATE IS 'PAKISTAN' IN MODEL U.N. THURS.

Pierre Salinger to Speak Here Today

Pierre Salinger, San Francisco State alumnus, will speak on his experiences in California jails in the Activities Room from 1 to 2 p.m. today.

Mr. Salinger, a former editor of the Golden Gate and member of Alpha Phi Gamma, is presently employed as a feature writer for the San Francisco Chronicle.

He posed as a vagrant and a drunk in order to get a first hand view of the situation in California's jails. After having written a lengthy series of articles on these conditions, he has taken up the problem of dispensing pension funds in California.

Copy for the jail articles was secretly set in type by one of the Chronicle printers, who, incidentally, is presently a member of the Golden Gate staff.

Mr. Salinger's speech is sponsored by Alpha Phi Gamma, journalism honorary.

Joe de Victoria, Delegation Chairman, Announces Special Issues; Observers Welcomed

The third annual Model United Nations will convene this Thursday at the Berkeley campus of the University of California, with S.F. State representing Pakistan.

Observers are welcome, and upon payment of a fee of $1, they may attend any of the meetings they wish. First hand observation offers an opportunity to learn "how the United Nations operates—the hazards, the methods of debate, organization—a clear picture of political, economic, and social issues prominent in the news today," according to Joe de Victoria, chairman of the State delegation.

The meeting is the culmination of many weeks' studies of Pakistan by the members of the delegation, whose job it is to represent as faithfully as possible the Pakistan foreign policy and the nation's stands on political and social issues in the U.N.

STUDY PAKISTAN

The members of the delegation have therefore spent the past two months studying Pakistan history and government. Every Saturday night, the group met to discuss and work from their studies, from literature provided by the Pakistan consulate in San Francisco, and with aid from Mr. Yale Maxon, a State instructor in International Relations.

Besides representing a Pakistan position on whatever matters may come up in the various councils, committees, and assemblies of the U.N., the delegation also intends to present some important resolutions on their own.

For instance, Lillian Katz and Nazir Ahmed, delegates in the Security Council, will attempt passage of a resolution affecting the status of the states of Jammu and Kashmir.

VETO EXPECTED

Since the delegation expects a veto in the Security Council of this issue, they will try to cause it to be passed on to the General Assembly, where its chances of passage are much better.

When and if the issue comes before the General Assembly, de Victoria and Tom Schafer, delegates, will speak in its behalf before the Assembly, caucus with other delegates, and do other work for its passage.

Al Nathan and Al Henderson in the Political and Security Committee are attempting passage of a resolution calling for direct negotiation between

New Constitution On Student Ballot

Directors Reject Setup Change for Pub Board

The newly revised and streamlined constitution for the Associated Students, recently submitted to the Board of Directors for primary approval, was finally ratified by the board at a special meeting last week in the home of Dean Dorothy Wells.

It will next go before the general student body for final approval before it becomes effective. The voting will take place during the student body elections instead of in a special student assembly as originally planned.

CHANCE FOR EVALUATION

The change came when it was decided by the board that students will have more time to read and evaluate the new constitution if voted upon later at the general student body election.

Copies of the revised document will be made available to students at various points about the college.

A slight delay arose when Section 4 of Article 5, concerning the structure and function of the Board of Publications, was read.

The Board voted to change the new constitution back to the voting membership existing in the older document, which excludes the editors from voting. A change in selection of the member-at-large representatives in the Board of Publications was approved by the board.

Jack Healy, administrator of student affairs, stated "The Board of Publications acts as a review for complaints against the various publications, and if the editors held a voting privilege, the validity of the power of review may be nullified."

The present constitution was described as being "too unwieldy, awkward, and vague" to work with.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

THE BOILER ROOM

Ford and Industrial Arts

Editor, Golden Gater:

In May of this year, the Ford Motor company is sponsoring a nationwide contest of objects made in the industrial arts shops in the secondary schools. . . . Winners will be chosen from the many Ford Motor company sales regions throughout the country. Winners of the regional contests will go to Dearborn, Michigan, to compete in the nationwide judging. The liaison agent between the Ford dealers and the secondary schools will be the Industrial Arts forum and the Industrial Arts department here at our school.

One would think that a state college would ponder long over several questions before giving sanction to such a project. Doesn't the college have attempt at least to rationalize the following questions:

1. Is the Ford Motor company sponsoring this national contest because it is "community-conscious" or because it is interested in increasing the sales of its products? And if the latter is true, what effect does this have on our goals?

2. How can we, the Industrial Arts department, fit this type of activity (liaison work between Ford dealers and secondary schools) into our program of producing "competent secondary school teachers"?

3. Does a project that creates keen competition in our industrial arts shops in secondary schools stimulate a situation that is conducive to producing the mentally adjusted and civic-minded?

4. Should we, as a part of the state college, a state institution, participate in any way in promoting directly or indirectly any product, in this case Ford automobiles?

But no, you do not hear these questions (at least not in the open). All you hear is who is being "assigned" to which Ford dealer.

The college's president can't be held responsible for a project such as this. By necessity, duties of this nature must be delegated to department heads. But one may wonder whether or not this project is being run by the Industrial Arts forum and the Industrial Arts department. If one is to ask this question, he must know the difference between the two. So please tell me.

If any democracy prevailed at the Industrial Arts forum meetings (the executive committee is not to be blamed), I would not be forced into a position of expressing my views with an unsigned letter to the Golden Gater. Name Withheld

The Fraternity Question

Editor, The Gater:

My study of the fraternity-sorority question on this campus impels me to assert the following:

1. There is a clearly expressed faculty policy on this question; namely, the faculty encourages honor fraternities and sororities, as well as house club type organizations, but discourages secret (i.e., purely social) organizations, and "recognition by this faculty of such organizations shall be withheld." (See 19th October, 1939 faculty minutes).

2. This policy has not been changed or modified by the faculty.

3. This policy has been changed and modified in practice.

4. The changes and modifications have occurred, in my opinion, because existing policy has not been strongly enough enforced by the college administration, but mainly because it has not been developed as a positive, constructive policy by student-faculty-administrative co-operation. Instead, it appears to stand as a negative policy.

5. The question of "going national" is one step ahead of where it should be, since the social fraternity and sorority has no legal existence on this campus.

6. The national fraternity would be an extension of the principle which to date the faculty has repudiated.

7. The faculty is, and of a right should be, concerned with this question because it is a problem fundamentally of the college curriculum, in this case the "social curriculum." It is distinctly not a question of minority rights.

8. The faculty, working with administrative guidance, and through consultation with students, should in a forthright manner seek a constructive solution to this problem.

9. Immediate action is called for. This is a pressing matter. A policy of "drift" is bad for the college.

10. Our guiding principle should be: Improve the college!

Bi-Partisan Survey?

Editor, the Golden Gater:

A reader of your front page editorial on the fraternity-going-national story. Thought you did a good job of presenting the arguments both pro and con in a welcomed, impassioned manner. The writing appeared tight and readable.

I sent a clipping to some friends of mine in a Delta Chi house at the University of Washington, for their information and education. While recently there, I saw all the results of national fraternities and heard all the rationalizations for the exclusion of Jews, Orientals, and Negroes.

A suggestion to those who suggest that discrimination of the most objectionable sort does not, or will not, exist under the system proposed: How about a bi-partisan look-see at some colleges who employ the national fraternities with houses, as compared with those schools that disavow the national stuff and stick to the locals? The results might make for a damn good story.

Staters Featured At Starlight Club

By HAL GRANT

Country music, "Bourgeois" style, is currently being featured by ex-S.F. Stater "Country" Lee Crosby and his three Clodhoppers at the Starlight Club every Saturday night.

The Starlight Club, an atmospheric restaurant and night spot, is located one mile north of San Rafael on highway 101.

"Country" Lee, who doubles as vocalist and bass player, received his A.B. from San Francisco State in Business Administration. In addition to his musical chores at the club Lee also MC's a radio program from 7 to 8 every morning over station KTIM.

On the guitar is "Cactus" Joe Thorn, who spent several years teaching music in California public schools after receiving his A. B. in music from State.

Agitating the accordion in a very professional manner is "Smilin' Ed Brewer.

Rounding out the four piece combo is petite, curvaceous "Daisy Mae" Tripp, currently a music major at SF State. Four foot 11½ inch "Daisy Mae," the featured vocalist, also entertains on the violin.

She has appeared on Les Malloy and Dee Jay Madison's TV shows and was a quarter-finalist on Del Courtney's TV talent show.

Business Educator Speaks On Better Bookkeeping

"How we can give students more effective instruction in Bookkeeping" was the topic of discussion of Professor Paul Carlson, renowned business educator.

Professor Carlson, head of the department of business education at the state college of White-water, Wisconsin, spoke to students as well as Bay Area business teachers at a special session in the College hall dining room recently.

The professor is described as "outstanding" in his knowledge of Business Education, which in part may be the reason behind his co-authorship of the highly-successful "Twentieth Century Bookkeeping."

Foreign Student Enrollment Rises; Latest Count is 263

No longer will San Francisco State be known as the "street car" college. It can now be known as the "steam boat" college in light of recent statistics released by Dr. Hugh Baker.

Dr. Baker reports a total of 263 overseas students registered this semester, of which 234 are non-citizens. One hundred seventy-eight have students visas and the remaining are broken down into the following categories: visitors, 13; immigrants, and permanent, 21; resident, 6; diplomatic, 11; non-quota, 1; professional, 1, and business 3.

This is a staggering amount of foreign students. On a percentage basis, State probably ranks among the highest in the country of foreign student enrollment. Figures recently released place State among the top 15 colleges in the nation in enrollment of students from Asia.

The overseas students enrolled in State come from all parts of the world. In fact, State is approaching the total number of nations represented in the United Nations. Recent additions this year include students from Egypt, Union of South Africa and the Fiji Islands.

Insidious Books: We Must Keep Pure the Mind of Youth

We are happy to note that at least one member of the Board of Trustees of West Contra Costa Junior college has decided that Karl Marx' Communist Manifesto should not be included in that college's Great Books course. There are entirely too many insidious volumes of literature floating around, and we hope that Attorney George R. Gordon of Martinez, the opposing trustee, will work diligently to keep untainted the minds of young students.

Gordon feels, and quite rightly so, that students at the junior college level would not derive any particular good from reading Marx.

We shouldn't allow this movement to stop with the elimination of Marx from the public school curriculum.

An investigation of our own S.F. State library, for example, reveals that there are many other volumes available to the impressionable young students. Volumes that might prove morally or politically perverting. Standing side by side on the shelves of the State library are copies of psychological studies dealing in an outrageously open manner with sex and written by politically unreliable foreigners such as Freud, Jung and the notorious Kraft-Ebbing.

Prompted by these discoveries, we checked with the English department and discovered that tales of lust, murder, vengeance and insanity are not only available to students here, they are actually required reading. One of history's most degenerated writers, one William Shakespeare, leads this field at SFSC. He is by the way, another foreigner who has invaded American traditions by way of the publishing racket.

One of the most shocking volumes unearthed during our local investigation was innocuously titled "The Prince" by an Italian named Machiavelli. Historians have never attempted to deny that this man was at one time closely linked with the bloody Borgia regime of Italy.

To name only a few other books that should immediately be destroyed, if we are to protect the minds of American youth, there is the wildly pro-Catholic "Divine Comedy" by Dante, a scientifically absurd volume by Aristotle, and a widely circulated version of the Holy Bible, itself a lustful tale of antiquity.

Go to it, Mr. Gordon of Martinez. Your move marks the stepping stone that may lead to a long over-due purification in our over-stocked and practically worthless colleges and public libraries. You have our support.

S.F. String Quartet Commands Applause in Faculty Concert

The brilliance of Brahms' "Piano Quartet in F minor," deftly performed by the San Francisco String quartet, filled Frederic Burk auditorium last Monday evening with several rounds of enthusiastic shouts and applause. This was the third in a series of six State Faculty concerts.

Mr. Vladimir Brenner, State instructor of music, appeared with the group as guest pianist. The quartet was completed with Ferenc Molnar, State music lecturer and violist; Naom Blinder, violinist; Frank Houser, State music lecturer and violinist, and Boris Blinder, cellist. All are members of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra.

The near-capacity audience heard an admirably varied program of R. Vaughn Williams' "Quartet in G minor," whose Minuet and Trio won particular praise, Alfredo Casilla's somber cradle song, "Ninna-Nanna," and the shrewdly witty "Valse Riddle."

Certainly this prominent group has not only won honors and praise, but the distinction of influence and reaction of a local return to the pleasures of evenings devoted to chamber recitals. The Quartet, in cooperation with the Creative Arts division and the Faculty Concerts, is planning programs for April 20, 27, and May 4, to help meet this demand.—By James Keolker

Rousseau to Make Film Appearance

The State Art Club and Creative Arts division have announced the second offering of their present series of interesting and informative art films.

The second program will be presented Tuesday, April 14, and Wednesday, April 15, in Room 109 of the New Campus Arts and Industry building. The films will be shown from 11:40 to 12:30 p.m.

Highlighting the program will be a recent film on the primitive French master, Henri Rousseau. "Death Day," directed by the famous Russian director Eisenstein, will feature the ancient ritual festivals of the Maxican Indians' "day of death." The program will conclude with the color film, "Images Medievales," which will show in bright close-ups the miniature medieval book illustrations of knights, tournaments, castles and culture of the Age.

Dr. John Guttman, associate professor of Art, states that each film program has been carefully designed to "suit the tastes and interests of the entire student body. All groups from art majors to anthropologists and language students will find information and interest in this second program."

The Art Club series will conclude with a third program on May 5.

Donkey Casaba: Burros Made Favorites at 6 to 5

Donkeys will wage an intellectual "war" with faculty and students at the S.F. State Fair, May 7, 8 and 9, at the new campus, in a regulation game of "donkey" basketball.

To prevent possible confusion on the part of spectators, the donkeys will wear long ears for the occasion.

Santa Rosans Toss Bouquets at Show

One of the most appreciative audiences in history welcomed State's traveling band of entertainers when they journeyed to Santa Rosa Junior college recently.

The program consisted of singing, dancing, and comedy acts which were lauded as tremendously successful, as the students of Santa Rosa responded with much praise for the State performers.

Included in the program were songs by Gloria Reyes and Wes

Baker, and dancing by Rachel Reyes. Gloria and Rachel then combined to do a couple of Hawaiian hulas. Karla Olsen followed with some very fine modern interpretive dancing.

"Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me" was the theme of a singing and dancing routine by Marilyn Harris and Mary Lou Leon. Also on the program were two comedy routines by Manuel Carvalo which had the audience in an uproar of laughter.

Anatol Joukowsky: State's Ethnic Dancer Reflects upon His Experience and His Work

By JAMES KEOLKER

Someone brilliant once remarked that to spend an afternoon with a faculty member while he traces his career with blow-by-blow description is not only dull, but an unadvisable activity for the student. But when one checks on the personalities and experiences of some of our new faculty members one ponders the problem and especially the brilliancy of the quoted.

I caught my first glimpse of Anatol Joukowsky in a dancer-framed mirror at the San Francisco Ballet. For one of State's newest faculty members, and, indeed, one of the most gifted choreographers in the business today, this activity is just one in a series of day-in-day-out classes and rehearsals.

With a flourish of shouted French and much hand beating of complex rhythms, the class came to a close. The dancers gracefully draped themselves over mirrors and chairs. The short, stocky figure of Joukowsky came forward.

"You are the young man from the college paper. Come with me and I will tell you all you want to know." The grey-haired dancer of 45 energetically worked into a maroon scarf and a tan rain coat. He then ceremoniously exchanged his chartreuse bandana for a blue beret. "An old French memory!" he winked.

Talking of his native Yugoslavia and childhood dance experience, Joukowsky walked me from the groups of bending dancers out into a sunlit bus zone. "No car. I do not drive," he explained. "I learn to drive and I will become a slave to a machine. Besides, the California sunshine is wonderful. Like Macedonia's!"

As the bus joggled us across town we talked more of Joukowsky's experiences. The Maitre de Ballet of the Theatre National de Belgrade, he performed in such dance classics as "Swan Lake," "Bolero," and "La Danseuse et Les Brigands." At the Vienna Opera he commanded leading roles in "Giselle," "Le Coq d'Or," "Coppelia," and "The Dance of the Hours" from "La Gioconda."

Questioned about S.F. State's students, in an attempt to compare this institution with leading schools of other hubs of culture, Joukowsky replied simply "Students are the same everywhere: big ideas and small will to work. They soon change," he laughed.

The bus jerked on and the record of Joukowsky's fabulous experiences lengthened. A choreographer for the Original Ballet Russe of Brazil, Joukowsky worked on movie versions of classic and operatic ballets. A recent local showing that company's film "Swan Lake" showed audiences Joukowsky and his work.

Questioned further about modern forms of expression through dance Joukowsky shrugged, "This dancing in dark night clubs—this is not the elevated dance, nor a means of expression—only an outlet for immature passion!"

According to this busy little man who has been dancing ever since he was knee-high to a practice bar, there is no emotion that cannot be expressed through dance. "Not a symphony exists that cannot be danced," Joukowsky illustrated.

The dancer revealed his present major work. "My main interest is Ethnical dancing—the dances handed down by generations for centuries." Joukowsky's local presentations are all fruits of his constant research and practice of the native dances from abroad. S.F. State was just a year ago the site for a Joukowsky ethnic recital.

Gesturing for a word to express himself, Joukowsky blushed and then spoke the slowest pace in hours. "I speak Latin, Russian, German, Greek, and French, but English!" He waved his hands in artistic despair. "You know," he grinned in confidence, "I am a college student myself. I take six hours of English a week at State."

We arrived at the new campus and walked toward the gym.

As the dance gym began to fill with eager students, Mr. Joukowsky turned and waved, "Time for another lesson, a rehearsal, and then an evening devoted to research and recital plans."

Certainly State students are beginning to realize the depth of the faculty pool of talent. Aching arches and pointed toes are already showing the Joukowsky influence.

Gator Nine Faces Difficult Schedule; Wins Two More

Pandolfi Pitches To 10-1 Win over Hamilton Field

The Golden Gators blasted Hamilton Field Air Base into submission last March 26, to the tune of 10-0.

Jerry Pandolfi, latest Boyle hopeful, worked the first five innings and threw shutout ball while allowing only four hits. He showed fine control, unusual for a lefthander, but not for Pandolfi, as he struck out five and gave up nary a walk.

When Pandolfi was removed at the end of the fifth in order to rest up for a rough up-coming schedule. Roger Martin, left handed relief specialist, took over and continued to throw shutout ball. In the four innings Martin toiled, he was touched for four hits. He struck out two and showed fine control.

Bill Rudometkin, and George Wehner led the attack with two hits apiece.

Freshman Bob Quattrin, making his first appearance as a starter at second base, batted the only extra base hit of the game, a booming triple.—LeRoy Pacini.

Heckman Tosses to 5-4 Decision Over Moffett

Joel Heckman pitched his worst game of the season, but it was good enough to notch up his fourth win as against no losses. Heckman avenged an earlier Gator defeat at the hands of Moffett Field by downing them 5-4 in a five inning game last March 17 that was called on account of darkness.

Joel was reached for seven hits and four runs, one of which was unearned, but he threw well in the clutch. Heckman struck out four while walking only one.

State Pits Record Against Spartans, USF and Sailors

San Francisco State's belting Gators take on a rough schedule this coming week. Tomorrow they play a double-header with San Jose State, one of the top local independents, at the new campus.

Tuesday, April 14, they take on a rapidly improving University of San Francisco nine at U.S.F., and they tangle with Treasure Island Friday, April 17, at T.I.

If it weren't for the recent good showing of Jerry Pandolfi, lefthanded control artist, Coach Dick Boyle would be mighty worried about the coming schedule, but with Pandolfi finding himself at long last, and with Roger Martin, another left hander, throwing creditable relief ball, Boyle can now take some of the strain off his ace, Joel Heckman.

The Gators, as of this writing, have compiled a good 7-3 record, and if their hitting, paced by Stan Fabiano, Norm Harris and Bob Lacosta, keeps up along with their pitching, they will make it rough on opponents from here on out.—LeRoy Pacini.

Golfers Expect Winning Season

Hey, don't look now, but S.F. State has a whopping good golf team! The Gators have six guys that have been out for the last couple of weeks mopping up on all opposition in sight. This coming week they are taking it easy.

They have only three matches scheduled; U. C. on Tuesday, Chico State on Wednesday, and Cal Aggies on Thursday.

The dual with Cal Aggies is a return engagement. The Staters knocked off the rich farm boys last week by a 22½ to 4½ score. In winning, Coach DeGhetaldi met his number one man, Paul Walters, coming in with a par 72 for the Harding course!

Other consistent winners for the Gators have been Bill Grant (no relation to "side-pocket" H. Grant) and Augie Costa. These two have been touring the links near the 80 mark. Fifth and sixth seeded players, George Schaudra and Charlie Andrews also won over the Aggies.

If you want to say, "I saw this boy Walters when..." you had better get out and watch him go 18.—H. C.

In annexing the 440-yard relay event, the S.F. State equaled turned in their best time of the season, going the distance in 3:57.5.

In the diving competition, Lord continued to take everything in sight as he gained the meet diving crown with 256 points. S.F. State's Fleming took second behind Lord with 186 points to his credit.

Cindermen Victors in Two 'Minor' Tri-Way Meets

By HERB COLTON

The San Francisco State college trackmen will trot out on Cox stadium tomorrow afternoon for their last home appearance of the year. The local lads will flex their muscles at the thinclads from Sacramento college. The one mile run, a tradition opening event, will get under way at 1 p.m.

Up to this date, Coach Ray Kaufman's trackmen have proven themselves to be the power of the "minor" college class on northern California ovals. The Gator spikemen have been busy the last fortnight proving that they are to be reckoned with on the cinder.

Our Staters notched up two tri-way meet victories in as many weeks. On March 28 the Gators amassed 79 2/3 points to roll over the City College of San Francisco and Santa Rosa J. C. The opposition point total, together, barely equaled that of the Purple and Gold. A brisk breeze on the floor of the stadium hampered times.

Last Saturday in Davis, the home of the Cal Aggies, the weather was right and the opposition more formidable. Kaufman's charges posted 82 points. Cal Aggies tallied 61. Chico State, just along for the exercise, scored 20, with 8 in the high jump.

Oreese Elmore and Jim Shettler were again double winners for the Gators. Len Posey chased Elmore to the wire for a 10 flat hundred and a 21.5 furlong. It was on this track in 1950 that Len Posey posted the school record of 21.2 for the 220 yard dash.

Shettler won the mile and 2 mile run handily.

Bob Lualhati continued undefeated for the season in the 440. Bob registered a good 51 flat for the distance.

Vic Gipson continues to creep up on breaking a 2 flat half mile. In winning last Saturday, Vic toured the 2 laps in 2 minutes even.

Coach Ray Kaufman must have had his tracksters "high" for this meet, because Herb Anderson stepped up to the circle in the discus and put one out near 124 feet; enough to win the event.

The results:
100—1. Elmore (SF); 2. Posey (SF); 3. Lippencott (CA); 4. Dossa (CA). Time 0:10.0.
220—1. Elmore (SF); 2. Posey (SF); 3. Dossa (CA); 4. Lualhati (SF). Time 0:21.5.
